The Hobby Center for Public Service at Texas State University is proud to offer students a unique opportunity for academic and practical success through partnership with the Certified Public Manager® (CPM) Program. The Hobby Center supports emerging leaders dedicated to excellence in public service, allowing Texas State University students to begin working toward the nationally recognized CPM designation while fulfilling their degree requirements, giving Texas State students a meaningful edge in their careers.

Why Enroll in CPM Courses at Texas State University?

1. Dual Achievement: Earn academic credit toward your degree while concurrently advancing in the nationally recognized CPM certification program.
2. Professional Growth: Build critical, hands-on skills in leadership, project management, and public administration, taught by esteemed faculty and practitioners.
3. Career-Building Network: Connect with professionals in public service fields, expanding your network and opening doors to potential internships, mentorships, and career opportunities.
4. Practical Learning Through Case Studies and Simulations: Engage with real-world case studies, simulations, and in-class discussions that reflect best practices in public service.

The CPM is committed to empowering future leaders with the tools, skills, and perspectives needed to drive change in public service. Begin your journey and take a step toward becoming a Certified Public Manager® while gaining valuable academic credit.

Advance approval by both the CPM Program and your academic advisor is required before enrollment. Find more information about the CPM program and registration at our website www.txst.edu/cpm/ (<https://www.txst.edu/cpm/>).
