The office of Online and Extended Programs, in addition to administering the self-paced correspondence and extension programs, provides information on Texas State's distance learning programs, courses, initiatives, and resources.

Mission Statement

The office of Online and Extended Programs expands access to academic credit learning experiences and lifelong learning opportunities for students through distance learning and extended studies.

Core Values

The office of Online and Extended Programs achieves its mission through strong collaboration among our team and other departments on campus; mutual respect for faculty, staff, and students; effective and accurate communication; and conscientious action in our daily operations.

Distance Learning Programs

At Texas State, online learning reflects our passion for teaching and learning, the courage and discipline to prioritize, a deep commitment to core values, and the allocation of resources where we can deliver superior performance and distinctive impact. Texas State offers both undergraduate and graduate degrees via online learning, all of which are developed and taught by our university faculty. These degree programs require formal admission to the university, and applicants must meet Texas State's general admission requirements, as well as those specified by the individual degree program. A list of fully online distance learning programs is available at <https://online.txst.edu> (<https://online.txst.edu/>). Additional information about online programs is also available at www.distancelearning.txst.edu (<https://www.distancelearning.txst.edu/>).

The university offers many courses and programs via distance learning and extended hours on evenings and weekends at the San Marcos and Round Rock campuses.

All graduate courses and programs offered to distance learners carry the same course number, title, and description as those offered at the San Marcos and Round Rock campuses.

For F-1 international students only one (1) distance learning class/online course per semester may be counted toward the full-time status requirement. For more information contact International Student and Scholar Services at international@txstate.edu or 512-245-7966.

Courses offered at a distance are identified each term in the Texas State Schedule of Classes and on CatsWeb. For more information on distance and extended learning at Texas State, visit <http://www.distancelearning.txstate.edu> (<http://www.distancelearning.txstate.edu/>).
