
Nontraditional Secondary Education: GED and Homeschool Applicants

In accordance with Senate Bill 1543 (SB1543), applicants for admission who present evidence of completion of a non-traditional secondary education without an official class rank will have a class rank assigned by Texas State. The class rank will be comparable to the average class rank of other applicants who have equivalent ACT or SAT scores. A non-traditional secondary education includes Homeschool and GED graduates. Texas State requires an official Homeschool or GED transcript to demonstrate evidence of completion.

Non-Ranking Public and Private High Schools

Students from a non-ranking school who do not fall into the non-traditional school definition, will be assigned a rank. This rank, determined by Undergraduate Admissions, will be based on the student's academic rigor, grades in academic courses, GPA (if available), and the profile of the high school.
